

Contents

---

|                                                                                                                                                 |      |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------|
| List of contributors                                                                                                                     | vii  |
| Preface                                                                                                                                  | ix   |
| Peter D. Burdon, Klaus Bosselmann and Kirsten EngelFulfilling the promise of the Earth Charter                                       | xiii |
| PART I THE CALL FOR A NEW DEMOCRATICEARTH COVENANT                                                                                          |      |
| 1 Summons to a new axial age: the promise, limits andfuture of the Earth CharterJ. Ronald Engel                                  | 2    |
| 2 Can the Earth Charter movement be renewed? Thecovenantal promise of the Earth Charter movementJ. Ronald Engel                  | 20   |
| PART II RESPONSES                                                                                                                               |      |
| 3 Towards a world constitutional orderKlaus Bosselmann                                                                               | 32   |
| 4 From stardust to sacred sands: protecting life on Earththrough a human story of ethics, care and the cosmosKathryn A. Gwiazdon | 48   |
| 5 The Earth Charter facing the Anthropocene EpochHolmes Rolston III                                                                  | 72   |
| 6 Rethinking global ethics in the AnthropocenePeter D. Burdon                                                                        | 92   |
| 7 Earth Law into the AnthropoceneNicholas A. Robinson                                                                                | 109  |

|    |                                                                                                                              |     |
|----|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| 8  | Governing ecological governance in the Anthropocene:a new covenant of eco-communitarianismBruce Jennings      | 126 |
| 9  | Promising the Earth: the need for Engelian covenantmaking in the AnthropoceneBrendan Mackey and Nicole Rogers | 143 |
| 10 | Global ethics and the Earth CharterNigel Dower                                                                    | 156 |
| 11 | J. Ronald Engel's vision for achieving a sustainable worldDonald A. Brown                                         | 168 |
| 12 | From the Earth Charter to the EcozoicPeter G. Brown                                                               | 182 |
| 13 | The quest for democracyLaura Westra                                                                               | 190 |
| 14 | Answering the summons: contemporary prospects forglobal dialogueStephen C. Rowe                               | 198 |
| 15 | Global charters and covenants for the flourishing of life:a subaltern ethical critiqueGeorge Zachariah        | 213 |
| 16 | Rewilding the covenant of life with compassion: a futurefor global and sustainability ethicsWilliam S. Lynn   | 225 |
| 17 | Revisiting the Earth Charter 20 years later: a response toRon EngelRichard Falk                               | 246 |
| 18 | Keeping faith with lifePrue Taylor                                                                                | 252 |
| 19 | Promoting global ethics: the Earth Trusteeship InitiativeKlaus Bosselmann and Prue Taylor                         | 279 |
|    | The Earth Charter                                                                                                     | 284 |
|    | Index                                                                                                                 | 293 |